Design proposal, project (furniture, lighting, accessories, image), production, assembly, logistics

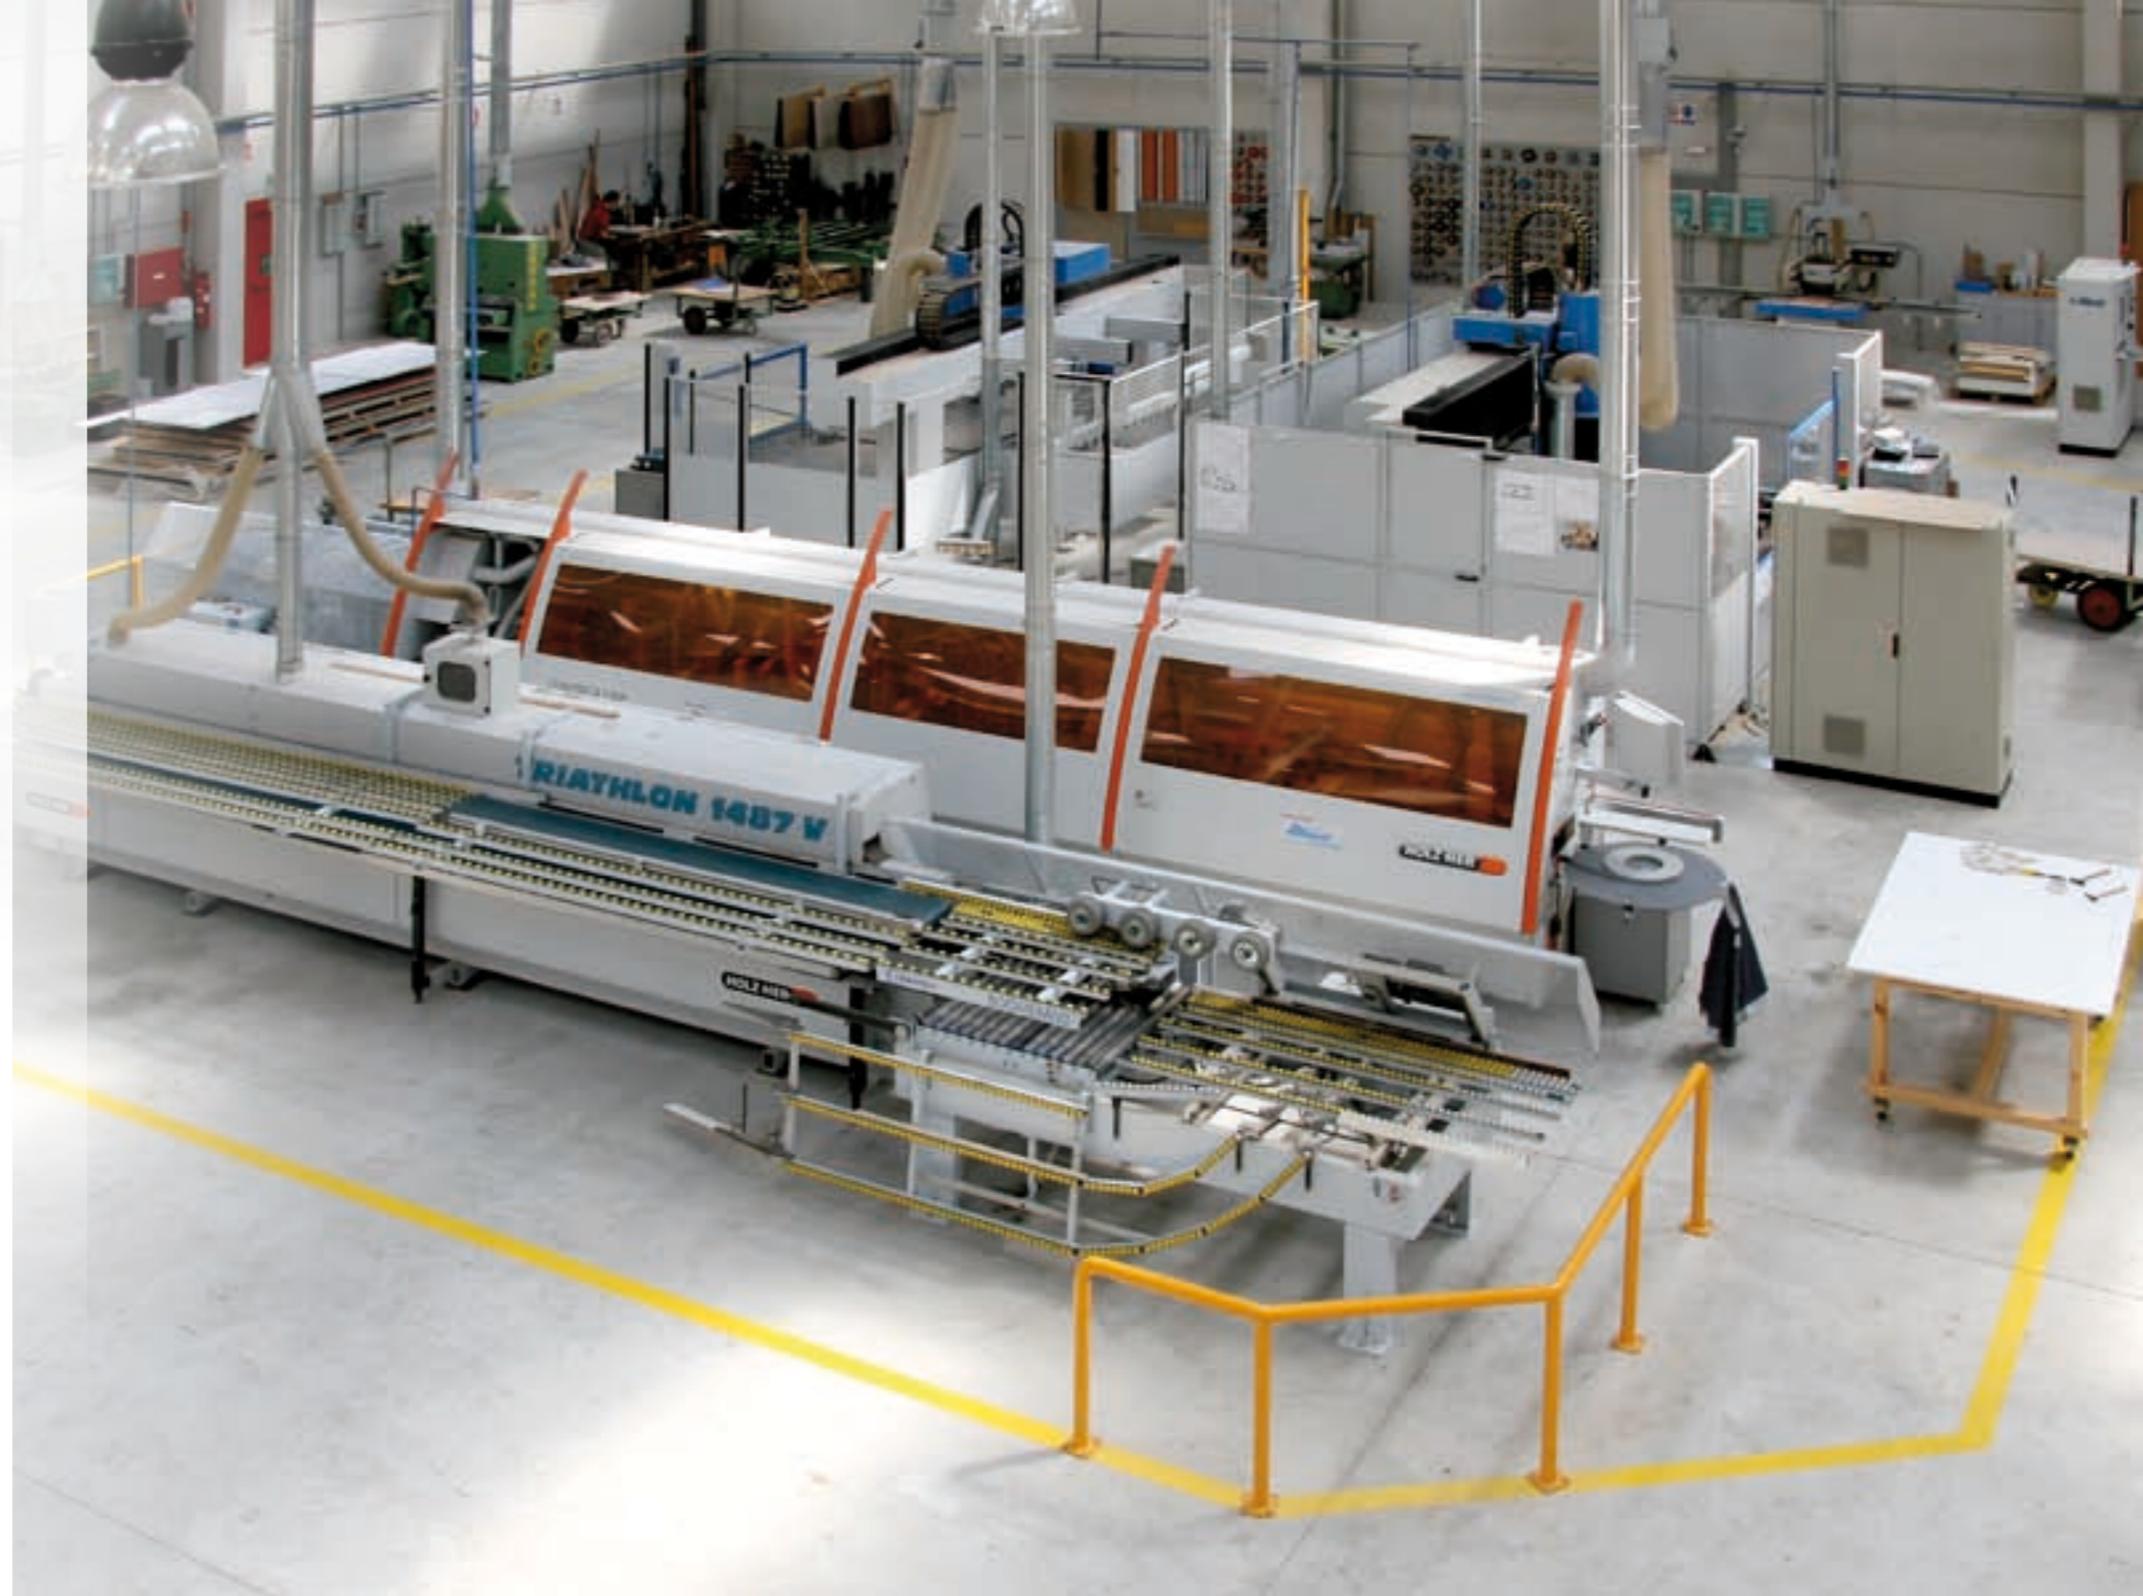

Fustcom started business as an industrial carpenter during the 1950s, covering the services sector (hotels, public centres and facilities, etc). Since 1992 it has specialised its activities entirely into production and equipment for a variety of cultural centres as well as more than 400 bookshops.

At Fuscom we design places for books, right from the beginning of the project until the bookshop opens. We take care of the image, lighting, decoration, graphics and all the accessories required, together with strategic product layout and furniture, creating a unique, customised ambiance for the bookshop.

All this, together with the integration of the entire production process at our modern facilities in Arenys de Munt, has put us in a privileged, optimal position, enabling us to offer our clients the highest quality services.

We currently have two furniture lines: MODULÓGIC, a compact furniture line, which is not only modern and but also surprisingly versatile and adaptable, and MODULIGHT, an economical line that optimises features and materials, while maintaining the intrinsic quality of all Fustcom products.

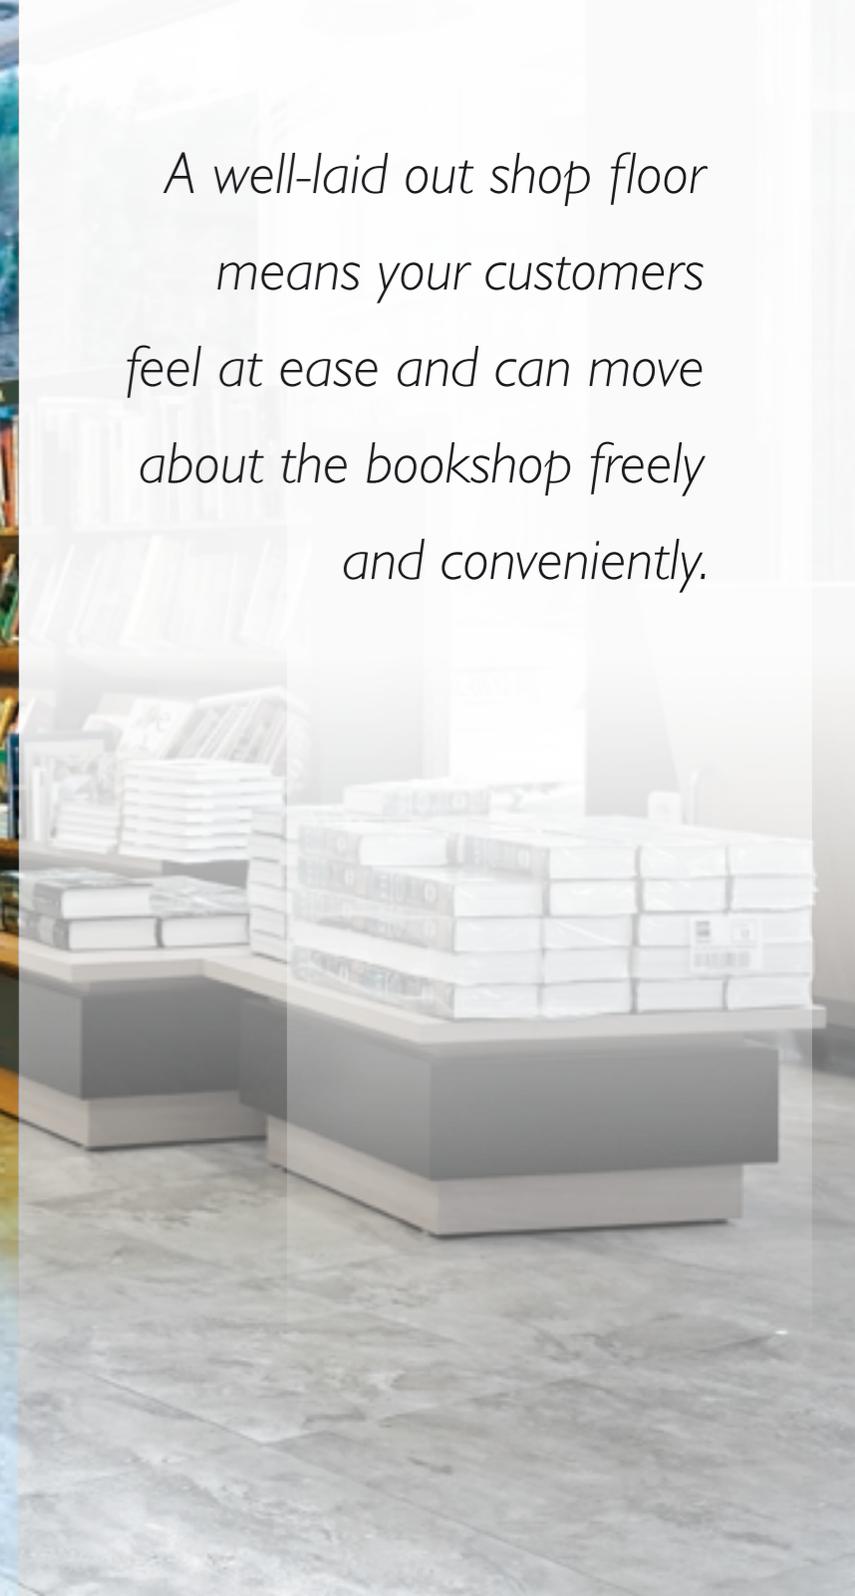

A well-designed image, suitable graphics, a good choice of colours and the right lighting are essential elements that give the store its own character.

A well-laid out shop floor means your customers feel at ease and can move about the bookshop freely and conveniently.

By making the most of each and every element we can provide you with an extensive variety of ways of displaying your products.

By making an appropriate distinction between the children's area, it becomes more attractive to children and young people.
